- 27-years in the Building Construction Industry serving from Project Expeditor to Vice President, Operations. My career has been with small to medium sized contractors and I'm currently engaged with a medium size contractor who works in the Monterey and Santa Cruz County areas
- During my 27-year career I've met and worked with many Building and Planning Departments in six western states.
- I, being a fairly new resident to Santa Cruz County (approx. 1-year) and experiencing the housing problem bring many thoughts/ideas on how we can alleviate the shortage of affordable housing without continuing the urban spread into the remaining rural, agricultural and wilderness areas (in our small county.)
- During the slow construction period in the mid-nineties, I was privileged to serve as the Chief Estimator for the University of California, Los Angeles' (UCLA) Capital Programs, Design & Construction Department. My position was not only the preparation of construction budgets/estimates for the needed facilities but ideas on the method and means of constructing these economically in a dense urban setting while keeping the character of a beautiful campus (keeping trees and other unique features). The "UCLA" experience brought to my awareness the need to utilize our rapidly diminishing resources in an efficient and economical way to benefit not only students and staff but also the surrounding community.
- In addition, I would like to use my career experience and give back to the community.
